“Time Management for Busy People”

By Chris Perrow of Perrow Systems

- Learn how to determine your priorities
- Develop paper & brain containers for your multiple projects and
- Discover way to halt the Focus Busters

Chris Perrow knows where you put that piece of paper – and how you can find it again. She’s built a reputation for taking even the messiest desk – the most time-wasting work processes – and the most disorganized people – and setting them up with integrated solutions that meet their goals. Chris Perrow designs organizational systems that fit the nature of the individual, department or company, helping people perform at their peak while maintaining order and flow.
